About the Kitchen

The Ladisics requested a “theatrical, functional and comfortable kitchen” in their 400 s.f. kitchen. A sculptural mixed metal hood over a custom Wolf range top is the central axis. Alcoves made from planked wood create symmetrical entablatures and pottery display. The left holds two single ovens, a steam oven, microwave, refrigerator drawers and glass wall cabinets for dishes. The right holds refrigerator/freezers and an entrance to the luxurious working pantry. A walnut eating bar wraps around the 12' long island that holds 2 dishwashers and a giant sink. Two walk-in pantries and appliance garages, a sink and dishwasher, and a plethora of storage make this cranberry-hued working pantry essential. Mixing metals is a signature of Matthew's as seen in the faucets, hood, refrigerator panels and decorative hardware. Besides ceiling lights, pendants, up lighting and multiple sconces were utilized. The texture and pattern of the wood planked walls, the countertop to ceiling tile, the 2" thick marble countertops and the deep grey tones of the cabinetry make the room intimate while setting a dramatic stage for incredible culinary performances.
